

Heatmap visualization of gene expression data across 144 samples, grouped into two sets of 72. The color scale ranges from red (high expression) to green (low expression). A color bar on the left indicates sample groups, and a color bar on the right indicates gene clusters.